

Republicans Need to Create Safe Spaces for Democrats Fleeing Party

Donald Trump's strategy: forcing Democrats to reveal who they really are and what they really believe is paying dividends as normal Democrats become uncomfortable with their own party.

As Republicans and Trump supporters this is great news. Now we have to ask, "What type of events can we invite them to?"

Remember... They are not Conservatives or Republicans. They are simply unhappy, scared liberal Democrats.

Most REC meetings and GOP events are red-meat fests for the base and may scare off those testing the waters away from the Democrat Plantation.

The same is true for the many incredible Trump Clubs across the nation. Most of these Democratic refugees do not like President Trump, many detest him, and the Trump clubs overflow with our love and adoration for #45.

GOP Leadership and activists will need to be very creative to create "Welcoming Places" for the nervous Democrats.

The reality is... We have to offer them "Safe Spaces."

Happy hour meet-ups, barbecues, social media group get-togethers and networking events can all be effective in letting nervous Democrats connect with us and get their questions answered.

At a recent such event, attended by a number of young people running away from the Democratic Party they were shocked that the Trump supporters were so nice and educated and diverse as well as open-minded.

Remember. the media has them convinced that ALL Trump supporters are white racist, illiterates that hate everyone and have no teeth.

Donald Trump will shake the normal people loose from the Democrat Plantation. It is our job to have a places that welcomes them.
