

Responding to: “Hydroxychloroquine....I Only Believe Controlled Trials”

Last week we had the censored press conference where frontline doctors told America the success they are having with Hydroxychloroquine combos.

Social media immediately took down the videos and labeled as fake, any information from these doctors.

So in debating with liberals across the Internet we hear: “It does not work unless there is a randomized controlled trial.”

Let’s examine a hypothetical conversation between physician and the patient over COVID and hydroxychloroquine. Can we see any problems with a controlled trial in the real world?

Patient: I think I may have COVID? I took a test and will have results in 3 to 5 days what should I do.

MD: Looking at your symptoms, good chance that you have it. Since you’re not having any breathing issues, go home. If you can not breathe , go to the ER.

Patient: Anything I can do in the meantime?

MD:There is a randomized controlled trial for a treatment. Would you like to be in it?

Patient: Sure..... What is involved?

MD: Half the patients receive hydroxychloroquine, azithromycin and zinc for 5 days. The other half receives sugar pills.

Patient: HOLD IT..... This disease is a killer that has closed all schools, all sporting events, bars, restaurants, meetings, business offices and you want me to risk a 50% chance of dying by taking sugar pills?

MD: There is no guarantee that the drug combo works that’s why we’re doing the study.

Patient: But we know sugar pills don’t cure COVID ? Right?

MD: True

Patient: So the drug must be new and may have tons of side effects?

MD: Nope! Been around 65 years. In malaria prone areas it is put in the salt and given to children. Given to pregnant women for ZIKA. And I know a lot of doctors that take it to try to prevent COVID.

Patient: Then it must be very expensive?

MD: Nope. About $20.

Patient: Maybe I should wait, and then take the drug when the symptoms become really bad?

MD: Not a good idea. The data suggests that it can actually cause problems if the disease gets into an advanced state.

Patient: Why not put me on the drugs and forget the stupid trial?

MD: Okay but don’t tell anyone. I don’t want them to shut my Facebook account.
