

Simple Ways to Explain Stolen Election

Due to censorship most Trump haters have been blocked from understanding why we believe the election was stolen, and why the courts cannot do anything about it.

In a recent standoff between Rand Paul and George Stephanopoulos, George kept saying that there was no widespread fraud, and Rand Paul kept saying "stop calling me a liar"

As always, we fact dump, instead of asking questions, and they respond with overused talking points.

Therefore, it helps to start with an agreement. Ask a question:

"Do you agree that it is almost impossible to prove sufficient voter fraud to ever overturn a national election?"

After they agree...ask: "What is the standard to prove fraud to change a national election?" They will have no clue.

Now ask: If you have a heavy Democrat city, which political party controls the election?"

THEM: "Democrats?"

YOU: "Great, in those cities how do Republicans guarantee that the election is being run fairly?"

THEM: NO IDEA

YOU: "Volunteer Republican election inspectors (poll watchers) create the checks and balances. Would you agree, that if the Republicans are not allowed to monitor and inspect the voting that is happening, then the Democrat election officials have the responsibility to show that they have run the election fairly?"

THEM: Hem and haw and usually agree with you.

YOU: Thank you, you now agree with our side." They won't understand what happened, but you have just changed the burden of proof, and they agree. The burden of proof is why the election cannot be overturned.

Interesting Question: What law is broken when an election is stolen?

Answer- Possibly no law is broken. If the Secretary of State illegally changes the way voting occurs, and the Supreme Court agrees, then, the election was stolen, but it was not against the law.

This one concept, changes everyone's understanding of why an election can be stolen but nothing done about it.

How do you legally steal an election? The US is one of the few countries where ID to vote is not required. We are now also one of the few countries that allow almost everyone to vote by mail.

This brings us to one of the most interesting points.

We have all seen the statisticians / mathematicians explaining why the election results were mathematically improbable if not impossible. This was based on nationwide voting patterns, picking up House seats, voter turnout, etc.

However, mathematical equations cannot overturn election results. AND YET, in order to block voter ID laws, experts, mathematically extrapolated that there are over 11 million citizens without photo ID, that would be disenfranchised by voting laws. The fact that they cannot find thousands of citizens to testify that they have no ID, was irrelevant. The mathematic experts gave testimony that was accepted.

And finally, no judge issued a nationwide injunction to impound the voting machines. Then, lawsuits were dismissed due to lack of evidence. How can you produce the evidence, if the courts will not order the machines seized and inspected.

Summing up- Stop alleging "widespread voter fraud." No one knows what that means. Just explain "sufficient irregularities that calls into question the 2020 results if a full investigation is allowed"
