

Are the Republican Candidates Ready to Execute the New Strategy?

I think the Republican candidates are finally starting to see the light beginning with DeSantis. To date, the strategy has been to try to take out Trump without alienating his base of voters.

It has become obvious that there is no way to do this. The Candidates must bifurcate the process. Step up their attacks on Trump really hard, and then worry about his voters later. Continuing the status quo, guarantees Trump as the Republican nominee with an almost hopeless path of winning the general election.

I get Republicans yelling at me about how great Trump is, but not one can articulate a path to winning.

Republicans tell me Trump is more popular with Democrats now, than ever before. However his March's net disapproval rating was Trump at 10% and today he is at a 16% disapproval nationally.

The indictments does not help him with Democrats or Independents.

I was the first off the Trump train, because I asked one question in February 2021 that no one has been able to answer.

“How does Trump win, when his greatest accomplishment as far as Democrats and Independents are concerned is the Trump vaccine, yet he cannot mention it at a Republican rally because he gets booted?”

Still waiting for an answer.

While I am against illegal immigration, I also understand how sad and infuriating it is for an illegal immigrant in the United States. They come here and pay someone who claims to be a lawyer to apply for a Social Security number, The attorney gets them an SS number, which may be fraudulent. The attorney says they are OK to work, so they get jobs. They worked for 20 years paying income taxes as well Social Security and Medicare.

A state such as, California gives them drivers licenses and Massachusetts gives them health insurance paid for by the government.

During COVID- the government gave them money. Thus, it is understandable that they think they are doing everything right. Now they turn 65, and do not qualify for Medicare because they have no status and their health insurance expires. They are in a panic and there is no solution.

For those that think that giving driver's licenses and health insurance will help illegals, you are leading them down a path that will end in destruction. Please have a heart.

Trump's document case judge told him: “I don't care if you are a presidential candidate.” , She said that she will make the schedule, and will gag him if she chooses. The appellate court has already greenlighted the destruction of Trump.

So please, tell me again how Trump wins?

I keep seeing memes: “This time we will have fair elections. This time voter ID.”

You missed the boat. First you have to win... then you can pass laws for fair elections.

Ben Shapiro, probably the most pro-life person there is, who is against ALL exceptions, says that pro-life cannot win unless they embrace a position in-line with most Americans to pass legislation. Then you move the public toward your goal incrementally.

Trying to push a stringent belief system on the electorate is backfiring. I think we should listen to the little Jewish guy in a yarmulke .

Another indicator the Pro-Trump / Pro-life position is backfiring? According to 538, Republicans are getting their butts handed to them in every special election in 2023.

Stop looking at polls and look at facts. In 2016 a week before election day, I predicted Trump in an electoral landslide. Not based on polls, but based on early voting numbers across the country. Translation-I looked at facts and was right.

The Democrat indictment plan on Trump is a two-parter:

- #1) Indicting him unfairly guarantees Trump to be the GOP nominee
- #2) Indictments guarantee Trump loses the general election

It's that simple

The fires in Hawaii shows why DeSantis would be such a great candidate. He did the impossible with hurricanes and other calamities in Florida and can run on the record. If the election is about policy: WE WIN If the election is about Trump? WE LOSE.

How to win in November? Tell young people... They have to start paying their student loans, because Biden lied to them. Now talk about how they cannot afford to pay their student loans because Bidenomics has made everything they need to buy cost more, so there's no money left for loan payments.

Republicans can fix the economy so you can afford your loans.

Every day I'm hearing from Republicans who are getting very upset with Trump, and are likely not to vote for him in the general election. They are not ready to say this publicly, but this is what they are thinking.

DOJ put Sam Bankman-Fried in jail for witness tampering. IS DOJ sending a message?

Alan's meme of the week
Moses to the Jewish People at Mount Sinai:

People....People..... You misheard me.

I said take the skin off your peanuts.
