You can never predict what the Supreme Court will do, but my suggestion for the 14th amendment /Colorado case is they end the issue for all time which can be easily accomplished.

In 1872 Congress passed the Amnesty Act by a two thirds majority in each House.

The Supreme Court can simply write that the intent of the Congress was to grant blanket amnesty and therefore cancel section 3 of the 14th amendment going forward. Everyone in civil war-time knew what "Insurrection" was.

This will stop any and all arguments. Once SCOTUS says: "Congress acted," no state or federal court could try to resurrect the meaning of the 14th amendment against Donald Trump or anyone else.

They can also use due process, but then the crazies will try to work around it. 1872 ends this for all time.

Dennis Prager asks an incredibly simple question.

"A high school girl decides that she is really a boy." "How does she know what a boy is?" Sometimes it's that simple

Months ago, I wrote that for Trump to win the general election, he must stop talking about his legal cases and leave it up to the lawyers. He did an interview where he said there will be trouble if the court does not overturn Colorado. He refers to the Jan 6th convicted as "Hostages."

If he were in a close race for the Republican Nomination, I would understand why he's pushing the base. But according to all polls, the results are a foregone conclusion and he needs to work on converting the November electorate..

The vast majority of non-Republicans believe the January 6th rioters deserve to be convicted. Trump's actions in talking about January 6th shows a disconnect. He could state that as president he would review all cases comparing to similar protests/riots and take action if they were sentenced more harshly because of their political affiliation.

The Republican voter is going to give us a candidate that is damaged, and our only hope to win is the Democrats running a candidate that is dead.

Public service announcement

The reason no one died in the Japan Airlines flight that exploded is because no one tried to take personal belongings off the plane. They went to the exits empty-handed.

If you're ever in the same position and some idiot stands in the aisle looking for something, push them into the seat or push them down the aisle. Your life depends on it

If you study the Palestinians you learn that if you keep people starving and feed them hate, they will not rebel. There is a 75 year history of this

Think about this: 3 or 4 people give a restaurant a bad yelp review, and you would never go there

Tens of thousands of people say that the COVID vaccine or booster made them sicker or killed a relative and they are lining up with their children for the next shot.

Someone please explain this to me? Every day multiple stories about how a passenger goes on a plane and someone is sitting in their seat. They call the flight attendant, the person moves, then they post on Tik-Tok and get 2 million views.

Why is this newsworthy?

Trump attorney, Alina Habba continues the incompetence parade by specifically naming a Supreme Court justice and saying he will step up on Trump v Colorado case?

Even if you're thinking and hoping, you never say it. It gives the other side ammunition, and they already control the press.

Mike Pence said that Donald Trump surrounded himself with the dumbest attorneys he has ever seen. I agree.

Please explain Republican or Trump clubs making Matt Gaetz a hero? There's a very good chance we lose our majority before the 2024 election. The reason I have no confidence in the Republican voter is because they would rather lose an election or a majority rather than elect a RINO.

Right now our majority is +2. Thank you Matt Gaetz supporters.

Another conservative Republican bonehead play

Reminder- when the Supreme Court leaked the Roe decision, I warned against pushing to the right too early. I said the pushback will be cataclysmic unless we give it a chance to settle in, so America sees that decision did not stop all abortion.

But as predicted, the Right to Life crowd started pushing near-total abortion bans, so the left and the center started pushing back hard.

Florida will have a constitutional amendment for a 24 week abortion and it has a good chance of passing.

Many Republicans given a choice between 6 weeks and 24 weeks will vote for 24 weeks.

All you had to do was allow people to get used to 15 weeks, grow a national consensus, and then push to the right from there.
