

Trump's Debate Performance

I said if anything major happened at the debate I would put out a Thursday Edition of One Minute Issue. Here it is.

Donald Trump if he would read my column, he would have handled the debate differently. I'm going to review some of the things I have written that would have gotten him through the debate.

All Trump had to do was talk for one minute if they gave him two minutes or talk for 30 seconds if they gave him one minute and he would have been fine. Sometimes when someone has a lot of time, they fill it up with gibberish?

Obamacare.... When asked, the answer is an insurance policy with a $10,000 deductible is only good for rich people and that is why I am against Obamacare.

9 years and he still cannot deliver the why Obamacare is bad line.

He talked about January 6th and the 2020 election. I wrote columns on how to stay away from those subjects.

You were the Vice-President for three and a half years and maybe the President. You are responsible for inflation.

I'm angry at Trump. He had the opportunity to put the election out of reach and he failed to seize the opportunity.

The only good thing was he got the last two minutes right when he asked why she hasn't done anything in three and a half years?

My feeling is that the polling will be about 50/ 50 maybe a drop more for Kamala. I saw on the WFLA TV site in Tampa where they had about 45,000 responses to a survey and it was: 51 - 49 Harris with about 45,000 responses. Tampa is pretty much split evenly between Republicans and Democrats and Pinellas is a little bit higher in the Republican side.

My feeling is Kamala won the debate. Trump was rattled and he was doing personal attacks. I think any boost will last about three days then back to a tied race.

A rumor is going around the Internet that Kamala's earpiece allowed her to receive answers. I don't know if it's true, but it should be looked into.

A Fox News focus group of about 15 people said that Trump met their expectations. Good or bad they know where they stand with him. I think this means that everybody knows what they need to know about Donald Trump.

Of course it's true the debate was 3 against 1. What do you expect from ABC?

The Canton Police Department released bodycam footage on Wednesday of 27-year-old Alexis Ferrell being arrested after allegedly eating a cat in Springfield Ohio. The incident happened on Friday, Aug. 16th

The Daily Wire reports: A resident named Anthony Harris said at the August 27 meeting that migrants are grabbing ducks from the park, killing, and eating them.

Also a woman said: "Stealing animals from farmers and leaving their severed heads at the site of an old school where children play."

Maybe this another situation where Trump was right in the entire media was wrong.

I'm sure many Republicans are wishing Trump was not the nominee today.

There was a Reuters focus group of Independents and by a 2 - 1 margin they said Trump won the debate. A NY Times focus group had similar results.

It's possibly independent voters are looking for Harris to say what she is going to do and she failed to do it. They know Trump because he's done so many interviews over the years and he was President.

Another focus group where they use a dial method, Republicans and Independents got the exact same numbers when Trump was talking about immigration (very high). Major point for them.

I'm going to repeat some Medicare information from last issue:

How was Medicare cut? In 2025, for Medicare Advantage, the deductibles are higher. Copays will be higher, and the maximum out of pocket is higher. Also, the ancillary benefits are much lower.

In 2025 many carriers will be charging a $590 deductible on tier 3, 4, and 5 drugs. This is the maximum Medicare is allowing. The maximum spend is $2000 so it helps the people that were in the doughnut hole, but for many others, they are going to pay a lot more.
