

2026 Scotus Decisions

I wish all of my readers a safe and happy 4th of July, that will start on the 3rd of July because it's a Friday and a holiday, with many people taking off on the 6th of July to make a 5 day weekend.

I remember 1976 and the tall boats. 50 years later, time keeps marching on.

Trump is supporting a deal for an American company to mine minerals in Congo. This is a major warning to China.

Carmelo Anthony has a new legal team of six lawyers for his appeal. I guess they are not so broke after all.

The European mind cannot comprehend our football stadiums. The fans are absolutely blown away.

Europeans also cannot believe American hospitality. It shows them that their media is corrupt.

Now Europeans have found our toilet paper selection. They may not go back to Europe.

A man almost killed a homeless man on the subway in New York by beating him almost to death, and he was sentenced to only 5½ years in prison.

Trump's approval jumped four points to 47%, and that is being blamed on the Iran negotiations going well as far as Americans are concerned.

If Kamala had won the election, would the World Cup have had the same result of Europeans loving America?

Israel is using Hamas's GoPro videos from October 7 to create a special task force to kill or arrest anyone who took part in the October 7 massacre. This includes men, women, and children. There were 7,000 terrorists.

What I think is the most significant Supreme Court decision of the year, is that the Supreme Court says when you arrive at US/ Mexico border, you are not in the United States. This makes clear that if you stop at a border office in Mexico and they turn you away, you have not entered the United States and are not entitled to apply for asylum.

In another case, the Court ruled that just because you are Haitian and the U.S. said there is no Temporary Protected Status, you cannot say it was caused by race.

This Supreme Court is really following Dr. Martin Luther King. They are color-blind, and the liberals hate it.

In Springfield, Ohio, they are celebrating the "kick the Haitians out" Supreme Court decision.

As we have known, the DSA, Democratic Socialists of America, is now controlling the Democrat Party.

One reason I believe Republicans will do very well in the midterms is because in the primaries, the poor people in the housing projects in New York voted for the non-DSA candidate.

The Republicans need to keep splitting the Democrat Party.

Those on Temporary Protected Status missed the key word: "temporary." It does not matter if you have made a life for yourself here. It is temporary, and your time is now up. If you go back voluntarily, you may come back. And if your country is a shithole, then agree with President Trump that your country is a shithole.

One of the battles Israel is facing, and the U.S. will eventually face, is lack of knowledge of history by Muslims. They make it up. Biblical history and real history. They just make it up because they do not know anything.

In Mexico, public education is free to eighth grade. Beyond that, you have to pay for it, which means most Mexicans do not have an education above eighth grade.

The Blacks want to free Palestine, but they do not understand that in Palestine, they still have slavery of Black people.

In the UAE and Qatar, 12 years of school are compulsory. In Saudi Arabia, Lebanon, Bahrain, and Syria, it is 9 years. In Iraq, it is only 6 years.

New York City decided to freeze the rent for 1 million rent-stabilized apartments. This is how you get votes, but destroy the city.

When the Haitians say crime is very high in Haiti, remind them crime is very high on the South Side of Chicago also.

Let's look at the other side if the Supreme Court had ruled against Trump on Temporary Protected Status. That would mean if you let somebody into the United States for two weeks on temporary status, they get to stay here forever. Is that reasonable?

Golda Meir, the Prime Minister of Israel, carried a Palestinian passport from 1921 to 1948 under the British Mandate of Palestine.

So the Haitians will stop taking their kids to daycare. Why? They are not going to be treated like criminals. If deported, they will get a letter from the Immigration Service, saying they have to leave the country by such and such date.

Or they may be offered, especially if they are involved in healthcare, some type of arrangement where they stay, as long as they cannot become a citizen. But the fearmongering on the left is incredible.

What does anyone think is going to happen with TPS between now and the midterms? The criminals will be deported, and no one else will be bothered until after the midterms. That is if Trump is being smart.

In 2018, celebrities wore shirts that said "Haiti Is Great Already" in response to Trump calling Haiti a shithole. Now Haiti is the worst place on Earth. It is a hellhole.

And when Trump called it a shithole country, the Haitians all yelled and told us how wonderful it was.

Bill Maher said it well: the place where we live is called America, not Utopia.

Europeans cannot believe we can buy mayonnaise by the gallon.

I did not know this, but in some parts of Europe, fans can not drink beer during the soccer match, while watching the game.

And of course, we consider it no big deal and take it for granted, but air conditioning is a big deal in Europe.

An air-conditioned stadium is science fiction.

Another medical miracle from Israel: possibly a cure for Type 2 diabetes. It looks like an outpatient procedure in the gut can literally cure Type 2 diabetes without any medications. This will be expanded to more hospitals in Israel and then, I guess, to Europe.

Anybody want to boycott Israeli inventions?

Lebanon and Israel have signed a historic framework. This proves the roadblock to peace is Hezbollah, not Lebanon.

My understanding of the Lebanon deal is that Lebanon sublets its own territory to Israel so Israel can evict Hezbollah. As Israel does this, Lebanon takes over the area. And because this agreement is between the U.S., Israel, and Lebanon, the U.S. is propping up Lebanon and will hold its feet to the fire.

Why must air traffic controllers retire at 56, FBI agents at 57, and pilots at 65, yet politicians can keep making decisions for future generations until age 90?

From 2000 to 2022, the cost of healthcare coverage has increased four times the rate of inflation.

Looks like California will be able to continue fraud in their ballots because rather than say the ballots have to be in by Election Day, the Supreme Court said they can come in up to 5 days later. That was Mississippi law. We will see what happens with California's craziness.

When the Supreme Court comes down 6–3 for Trump on immigration, everybody is like, "Yay." When the Court rules on election mail-in ballots, the memes are, "Why are they Republican judges?" Judges interpret the law. Sometimes you win, sometimes you lose. Stop complaining that you drew the short straw.

Most of your life in Gaza is spent going to funerals of Hamas terrorists. I think that is a good thing.

The most interesting thing about the Supreme Court ruling on sex in sports, is that it was almost unanimous. All the justices concurred in the judgment. The liberals may have dissented in the reasoning, but in the judgment they all agreed.

I was wrong about birthright citizenship. As expected, the Court upheld it, but ruled it is a constitutional freedom that Congress cannot change.

Meme of the Week:
A husband can remember sports stats from 1987, but can't remember his wife's birthday.

Bonus Meme of the Week:
Marriage is when you say, "I'll do it later," and later becomes part of the evidence against you.

CANCER IS DIFFERENT.

Men have about a 1 in 2 chance of being diagnosed with cancer during their lifetime.

Women have about a 1 in 3 chance.

Years ago, you could walk through an airport and see Mutual of Omaha offering travel accident insurance for just a few dollars. The idea was simple: The insurance company was betting the plane does not crash , and you are betting it does .

Cancer is different.

Cancer is not rare. The odds are real. And the financial impact is often much more than just medical bills.

There can be lost income, travel costs, deductibles, copays, extra help at home, and everyday bills that do not stop just because someone is sick.

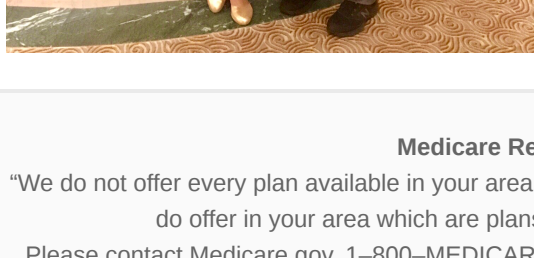

Cancer insurance can provide cash benefits that help cover the costs that regular health insurance may not fully handle.

The premiums may be much more affordable than people expect.

Call me and let's discuss whether a cancer plan makes sense for you or your family.
