More Israeli medical inventions: A clinical trial is underway for treating a large, benign enlarged prostate—without surgery or general anesthesia. Only from the Land of Israel.

Thinking you would be richer if there weren't billionaires, is like thinking you would run faster, if there weren't track stars.

While protecting World Cup venues, the FBI took down 700 drones.

The mayor of New York City cannot define how much income you need to be considered working class. This is what happens when you try to pin liberals down: They don't have any definitions.

Am I the only person consistently getting AI-generated Sarah Palin videos in my reels? I must say, she looks great.

Now the Republicans are talking. They can use budget reconciliation to put $10 Billion toward funding some SAVE Act proposals that do not require a 60-vote margin in the Senate. This will help us in November.

Surveys show that people using GLP-1 drugs have 17% fewer absences from work than people who do not. In other words, when people lose weight, they do better.

It is now estimated that a person turning 65 will need $186,000 budgeted for medical care. I have some great ways of saving money, but you've got to call.

If you take three or more generic drugs—or a generic and a brand-name drug—you may qualify for an almost-free home health care plan. It is not available in all states, and you may need to qualify, but if you can get this plan, it is amazing. See the ad at the end.

Trump made a major deal with Saudi Arabia involving civilian nuclear power, but it is contingent on Saudi Arabia joining the Abraham Accords. And people think Donald Trump doesn't think about Israel.

Senator Fetterman to Mamdani: You are mad at Netanyahu because he killed the people you admire. Call the terrorists what they are: "Terrorists."

Waymo versus human drivers: Waymo had an 81% lower risk of a single-vehicle accident and an 85% lower risk of an accident involving injuries. I have said that children born today will not learn to drive. Self-driving vehicles will sweep the country because, from a safety perspective, this shows what everyone should have known: Waymos are much safer. Yeah, I know—85-year-olds never forget which pedal is the brake and which is the gas.

The difference between a presidential election and a midterm election is the election cycle. In a presidential election, people running for Congress start much earlier. In an off-year election, sometimes we don't even know the candidates until two and a half months before Election Day.

So much for reporting the generic ballot: One report shows Democrats up five points; another shows them up two. I don't think we're in the real world yet. Republicans will have to craft a message and stay on it—and the message may be that Democrats are crazy.

The Houthis are attacking ships, including Saudi Arabian ships. This means Saudi Arabia will be bombing the Houthis—and whose intelligence do you think they will be using? Israel of course, and all for $3.2 Billion in US foreign aid, that has to be spent on purchasing U.S. weapons.

You are going to notice a new ad about almost-free home health care insurance. Home health care can easily exceed $100,000, and most people do not have insurance for it. I don't know why, but it can work out to be free or low-cost. Reply to me to find out.

Each one of the 12 "innocent Palestinian soccer players" has been identified as a Hamas or Palestinian Islamic Jihad operative.

As much as I know Trump wanted to look like a peacemaker, he made a mistake by giving the mullahs months to decide whether they would come to the table. Now he is stepping into his own election cycle. Had he kept bombing them and not given them time, he would have been in a much stronger position. I think he listened to the Vance wing, and I think this will come back to bite JD in the butt in 2028. I give Rubio a major boost.

The media is making a Lake Worth, Florida, bakery owner look sympathetic. He was deported four times between 2012 and 2018. That means he illegally entered the United States five times—but he is sympathetic.

Judge Boasberg is at it again, requiring the United States to give visas to people high up in foreign governments so they can come here and spew their nonsense. I'm sure the appeals division will knock it down because he has no jurisdiction over people who are not in this country getting visas to enter America. I wish we had the votes to take him down.

Watch the video of a college girl talking to a Black Israeli Arab who tells her about the discrimination he faces from the Arab community in Israel. She says: "She doesn't believe it because, in her experience..."

She doesn't have any experience. She is watching videos made to show her what she wants to see. She actually said, "I didn't see videos of Arabs harassing Arabs. I only see Jews harassing Arabs." Does she not realize that many of these videos are staged?

The president has the month of August to figure out Iran. Once Labor Day arrives, people start locking in their election choices.

Trump is handling Iran the way he handled COVID: He is running his own press conferences. Had he shut up during COVID, he would have been much better off. But when you are 80 years old, you don't change.

Ami Horowitz asked Black college students a series of questions to determine whether they leaned Democratic or Republican. They were shocked to discover that, based on their answers, most of them leaned Republican.

The headline says: "ICE detains British dad of U.S.-citizen twins at green-card interview." He is white. I thought we were only arresting Black and Brown people.

October 7th started because Saudi Arabia was going to join the Abraham Accords, and Iran wanted to stop it, so it ordered Hamas to start a war with Israel. Seventy percent of the buildings in Gaza have been leveled, and none of the Arab countries are helping their Gazan cousins. This will go down as a bigger blunder than five Arab armies attacking Israel in 1948—and losing.

Comparing the number of births in January 2023 with January 2026, the numbers are almost identical—yet 70% of Gaza's homes have been destroyed. How does one account for this?

A man returning to the United States gave Customs and Border Protection officers a password for his phone that wiped it clean. He has now been indicted. The fact is, you have no constitutional rights at the border until you have entered the United States. This will be an interesting case to watch.

Maine has a new Democratic nominee for Senate. Well, yeah—he has a penchant for throwing water bottles and other things at people who disagree with him. No wonder they were willing to take the Nazi. Among Maine Democrats, that's normal.

Arab countries are building pipelines at record speeds, to bypass the Strait of Hormuz. In the United States, Biden shut down the pipelines.

The most important election in perhaps the last 40 years will be 2028, because it will determine which party is in power for the 2030 census. If Republicans are in power, illegal aliens will not be counted. If Democrats are in power, they will.

"I don't want to pay taxes and live in a city with a blatantly antisemitic mayor and his antisemitic wife. I also don't want to live in a city with the people who voted for him." —Charles Kushner, real-estate mogul and Jared's father

How did Mamdani win? Easy: He ran against two clowns. Curtis Sliwa should have dropped out of the race, and Andrew Cuomo—who can't keep it in his pants—should never have been in the race. If you run bad candidates, expect the worst candidate to win.

One of the advantages of living in Florida is that there is almost always a Medicare Special Enrollment Period due to a FEMA emergency. We are still under the Hurricane Milton emergency from two years ago. Just a public-service announcement.

Dr. Fauci wrote in his diary that COVID's fatality rate was between 0.2% and 0.3% while publicly saying it was over 2%. He lied—a tenfold multiplier.

The Trump super PAC has $400 million available, and it is going to start spending it in August. I told you: If Republicans get serious, they will win seats.

Wages are going up in the home health care market because they don't have the Haitians. That's what we have been telling you. Also expect to see robots start doing some of the chores.

Meme of the Week:
We promised to grow old together. Apparently, we're overachievers.
